HOW FARLEY WORKED

Entrance to His Chamber Pro-

A GREAT COUNTERFEITER'S DEN

His Home Regarded by Neighbors With Curiosity and Suspicion.

The house where Chicago detectives yesterday located the extensive counterfeiting outfit, is situated scarcely two blocks off of Pipestone street a short distance beyond Empire avenue.
It is in the midst of a thickly settled community and yet no one knew that it sheltered one of the most notorious counterfeiters known to the United States Secret Service.

The man who occupied the house which has suddenly awakened so much interest in the community is A. Farley, known by many people of this city.
When his occupation was discovered by the location of the counterfeiting plant in the cellar of his residence he had lived in the house three weeks.
Just three weeks ago, he, with his wife and two children, one an infant and the other two years old, quietly took possession of the plain and unpretensious dwelling in the south part of the city. They moved there from the vicinity of Eastman Springs where for several years he had occupied a residence owned by Mrs. Green.

Although the habits of the Farley family were such as to cause considerable gossip among the neighbors it was not suspected that Farley was a coun-terfeiter, and that he had the reputation of having in his day manufactured a hoghead of spurious coins and that the secret service had spent thousands of dollars trying to locate the man; that on several previous occasions the detectives had their prey in sight and were preparing to swoop down upon him when he would vanish, as mysteriously as he did yesterday when the officers surrounded his dwelling and entered it to find his wife and the two babes the only occupants.

Farley and his wife had no disposition to cultivate the acquaintance of their neighbors and during the three weeks' residence in the community where they have lately resided Mrs.
Farley is not known to have stepped outside the door. Farley entered and left the house after night had fallen and the only glimpse obtained of him was through the windows of the house.

When they first moved to the place from which the family has now disappeared a neighbor woman called. Farley was in bed and his wife was washing. The call-r was taken into the parlor by Mrs. Farley and left there alone. Mrs. Farley paid no further attention to her guest and Farley remained in bed. The caller remained but a few minutes and of course related her treatment to the neighbors and the Farleys were never afterward disturbed by callers.

The house was elaborately furnished.
The furniture was rich and costly.
Farley dressed well and the indications about the house showed that the family were in good circumstances. There was an air of mystery surrounding the house, created by the peculiarity of the inmates, and when the Chicago detectives yesterday approached the dwelling the neighbors were not greatly surprised.

Capt. Porter, the ablest detective of the secret service, discovered the counterfeiting outfit. He was delighted to find the plant, but he was more interested in capturing Farley and although he felt recompensed for his trouble he was disappointed. The detectives made what they considered a thorough search of the premises without remonstrance from Mrs. Farley.
They had found nothing and had started on their return down town when they were intercepted by a woman living near the Farleys who told them that there was a cellar in the Farley house. They then returned and had considerable difficulty in locating the entrance to the cellar. On the south side of the dwelling is a little shanty adjoining the house and although the floor of it was unsuspicious in appearance it was the entrance to the secret chamber where Farley piled his unlawful occupation. A blind door, closing like a trap door, concealed the way to the chamber, and having discovered this the detectives were prepared for the developments following.

In a box, carefully stored away, were the tools which aided Farley to make bogus silver dollars which so near represented the real that the average banker could not make the detection.
It was the choicest lot of instruments and machines that ever fell into Capt.
Porter's possession. The moulds were perfect and the eyes of the great detective sparkled as he triumphantly held them up to the view of his subordinate.

As soon as the officers with their plunder left the Farley home Mrs. Farley drew the blinds, placed her infant in a baby cab and leading the older one departed from the house. She has not been seen since. The officers believe that Farley went to Chicago Friday night. The neighbors declare that they saw him here Saturday and they believe he was in the city Sunday and Monday. The officers searched the house, room and lot and were disappointed.

men in this city besides John Hill, arrested in Chicago Saturday, who are interested with Farley and that a startling chapter of the affair will come to light later. Farley is believed to have agents in various states disposing of his spurious coins, and that he has been operating one of the most extensive counterfeiting plants in existence.
Mrs. Farley returned to the house last evening and remained there during the night. The local officers kept a close watch of the dwelling in the hope of detecting Farley but they were disappointed.

MOB AT ATHENS.

LONDON, April 27.—(Special)—A dis-that King George of Greece may at any moment be deposed or assassinated and that a mob is likely to take possession of the city.

The fact that a cabinet meeting was held here this morning before the return of the Marquis of Salisbury is supposed to indicate that matters of urgency are under consideration.

NEW ABSTRACT OFFICE

Preparation of a Set of Books Now Going On.

Warren Carroll, of Spokane, Wash., and I. W. Riford of this city will be the proprietors of a new abstract office for Berrien county to be opened as soon as the books can be gotten in shape which will probably not be before April, 1898—one year.

Mr. Carroll, with an assistant, has been occupied for two or three days in fixing up a set of books and as soon as the books are all opened the work of copying the records in the register's office will proceed without delay.

Employment will be given to as many clerks as can be conveniently handled and the new abstractors expect to be in a position to open an office within a year. The work of copying the records is tedious and involves a great intri-cacy of detail, while the amount of labor it requires is stupendous.

Mr. Carroll is a brother-in-law of Mr.
Riford and has had considerable experience in the abstract business. The only abstract office in the county at present is conducted by Dix & Wilkinson.

Pickle Contract.

We are still letting pickle contracts should get a contract soon as the books

SECOND YEAR—NO. 485.

BENTON HARBOR, MICH., TUESDAY, APRIL 27, 1897.

TELEPHONE MONOPLY

Company Organized to Save Benton Harbor and St. Joseph from Its Grip.

IN OPERATION ABOUT JULY 1.

The New Company Will Save the Two Cities $1,500 Per Year in Tolls.

Benton Harbor and St. Joseph are about to be delivered from the grasp of the Bell telephone monopoly, thanks to the enterprise of progressive local citizens.

The idea of a telephone exchange operated by home capital, giving the subscribers the lowest rate possible with good service and a reasonable profit, originated in the mind of Roland Morrill several months ago. During the winter Mr. Morrill lectured on peach culture in all the cities of western Michigan and wherever he went he investigated the working of independent telephone lines. He learned that if 500 telephone subscribers could be secured an exchange could be operated at a profit of about 10 per cent on the investment.

About a month ago Mr. Morrill began the work of forming a telephone company here and interested in the scheme W. A. Preston and E. Hatch of St. Joseph and J. R. Price and John Robinson of this city.

Last Saturday they began canvassing for subscribers and up to this morning they had secured 164 of the Bell company's 220 subscribers. Not a single Bell subscriber canvassed refused to subscribe for the new telephone.

There will be none of the party line nuisance with the new company and you can call for whatever number you wish without adding "999 rings." The price for business places will be $25 per year and residences $16 per year. The all rate for independent lines to business houses is $36 and for residences something like $25 or $30.

The local company will have a capital stock of $25,000, and as soon as organized shares will be offered the local public, so that if there is any profit it will be divided among the people of the community.

Mr. Morrill has made figures which show that the new company will save the two cities $1,500 per year in telephone tolls which now go to Boston. The telephone to be used is the American Electric which has an adjustable mouth-piece. This phone is of the long distance pattern and is much better than those used by the Bell company. There are 70,000 of the American Electric phones in operation. They are excluded by the government war navy departments and the Pennsylvania railroad company.

It is expected that the new exchange will be in operation by July 1. In Michigan it required 45 days to secure the franchise, put up the poles and wires and get the telephone system in operation.

It is the purpose of the new company to make connections as soon as possible with the independent state lines which reach on the north as near as South Haven and Holland and on the south Niles and New Buffalo, where a perfect network of wires going in every direction can be reached. The charges for long distance service by the independent lines are about half those charged by the Bell company.

The new company expects agents of the Bell company to be here by tomorrow to try and keep people out of the new company, but the matter is so far advanced now that half a hundred agents could not change the plans of the company or the desires of the people for another company.

ABOUT THE COUNTY.

Gallen

GALLEN, April 21.—The gladiators talk about air ships with their white, red and green lights. Why air ships don't touch the spot when compared with Saturday night's fight which occurred at 11:30 o'clock in front of the arena. With coats off, and fists raised and plenty of watchers the two combatants went in hot and heavy. Who would have gained is doubtful but while they were in the midst of their fight Deputy Sheriff Minster and Constable Glover separated and reminded them that they were disobeying the law. Reluctantly they put on their trunks and Gallen's deadly silence was more restored.

RECEIVES ITS FRIENDS

The Bon Ami Club Enters the Theatrical World and Scores a Triumph.

GAVE A RECEPTION LAST NIGHT

And Presented Scenes From the "Courtship of Miles Standish" With Great Skill.

The members of the Bon Ami club entertained their friends last night. They gave a reception and interested their guests with a clever presentation of scenes from Longfellow's pretty love story, "The Courtship of Miles Standish."

The club is only six months old, but it is a wonderfully developed infant. It started out with a membership of a dozen and the limit, 25, was reached long ago. The club takes up the Bay View readings and has made remarkable progress in the work. The members represent a very exclusive and intelligent set of married and unmarried people, including many of the instructors in the public schools.

Like all well regulated and prosperous literary organizations the Bon Ami club was ambitious to devote an evening to the entertainment of its admiring friends and as it was desired to receive at a private house where the room was limited each member was given the privilege of inviting three friends. With the adoption of this plan the guests were confined to 75 and this number, with an almost entire representation of the club's membership, clustered in the parlors of Rev. W. P. French last night to witness Miles Standish, John Alden and Priscilla, as impersonated by members of the club, in the courtship in which the great Indian fighter proved himself so poor a general.

The club's colors, delf blue, white and gold, prevailed in the decorations of the various rooms and the club members each wore badges, with the word "Bon Ami" artistically painted upon them in the hues recognized by the organization. At the door to receive the guests were Miss Flora McDonald, Miss Felts and Miss Hayes. The reception was more than a success—it was a triumph and the club's first social function will go down in history as an achievement which the members may contemplate with pride.

The opening scene of the drama revealed the home of Miles Standish. The fearless Indian slayer was represented by John Felts. He was pacing the floor in shining high boots, his brows knit and his whole attitude betraying the presence of great emotion. In the centre of the room sat John Alden, the captain's secretary, a part in which S. B. Clark appeared with remarkable tact. He wore a broad white collar and cuffs, after the early Puritan fashion and made an ideal John Alden, bashful, reticent, but a scholar.

John Alden hears the request of the captain. Trembling with passion he consents to go to Priscilla and plead with the woman he loves to accept the hand of Miles Standish, and the next scene reveals the home of Priscilla. The Puritan maiden in her simple gown of white sat by a spinning wheel, softly humming a plaintive air. She was easily recognized as Miss Lela French. She hears footsteps and as she raises her shapely head John Alden enters with his message. Longfellow's Priscilla could not have assumed a more injured and impassioned attitude than Miss French when John Alden told of the greatness of Miles Standish and his affection for Priscilla. How scornfully the news was received, and then with what delightful piquancy Priscilla said: "Why don't you speak for yourself, John?" Miss French's manner earned her the plaudits of the spectators, and she received them.

In the following scenes which introduced the Indian, acted by Clarence Warner dressed in one of George F. Sonner's full Indian suits, and the messenger, a role carried by W. P. Harvey, were marvelously realistic, and then the closing act when John Alden overcomes his bashfulness and is married to the pure Priscilla, was charmingly pretty and touching. The magistrate who performed the ceremony was represented by William Poundstone and the guests at the wedding were impersonated by Miss Temple and Miss Daker.

Between scenes musical numbers were rendered by Messrs Poundstone, Warner, Stone and Chapman and Miss Hipp, consisting of vocal and piano solos and duets.

At the close of the drama the spectators were invited to congratulate the newly married couple and the invitation was accepted. The guests were then decorated with cards containing the names of popular authors, statesmen, of songs and stories, pinned to their backs and these teasing discriminating signs were allowed to remain until the wearer had guessed the name contained upon them.

The refreshments were dainty and represented the club's colors the same as all other features. It was a charming event.

Following is a list of the members of the club: Mesdames W. P. French, C. F. Warner, Will Poundstone, Charles Stone and Fred Hopkins; Messrs. C. F. Warner, Will Poundstone, John Felts, S. B. Clark and W. P. Harvey; Misses Minnie Felts, Emma Hutchinson, Ora Hipp, Grace Roe, Kate Withey, Eleanor Rawlinson, Fern Temple, Alice Murray, Cora Hayes, Flora McDonald, Lura Moon, Nellie Daker.

LOVED IN GRAND RAPIDS.

Where It Is Best Known the Newboys' Band Is Ever Popular.

Nowhere are the members of The Evening Press Newboys' band, which famous musical organization appears at Conkey's hall on May 24, idolized more than in their own town, where they are best known. On the occasion of their concert at Reed's lake, which is Grand Rapids' summer breathing spot, the rush was so great that the street railway company was obliged to issue orders to its conductors to carry no more people from town. Every inch of standing room, every refreshment table, and every chair in the immense pavilion, was occupied by the home admirers of the boy musicians, and to have carried another person to the scene would have been to endanger the lives of those already there.

Good guessers on this occasion estimated the crowd at 10,000 people, and that this was conservative is shown by the number of persons who were transported by street cars alone, which was figured next day to be over 8,000. Beside this hundreds of persons visited the lake by bicycle and carriage, and many were willing to pay tribute to their little friends by walking to hear them.

A Card to the Public

Benton Harbor, April 23, '96.

DEAR FRIEND:—As a friend in need is a friend indeed I want to say I found you fifteen years ago when I thought my days were numbered. I was nothing but skin and bones, being all run down with chronic diarrhoea, indigestion and general debility that had been coming upon me for years. I had doctored with local physicians, taking the most powerful medicines but they failed to cure. Having given up all hopes of a cure I went to see you during one of your visits to our town, and I can truly say you saved my life. This is also the belief of my wife and family. I am now sixty-three years old and feel as well as I ever did, only my strength will not hold out as long as a younger man, but I cannot find words to express the gratitude I feel toward you. I have just this to say to any one, man, woman or child who is suffering with any ailment, no matter if your case is a bad one and other physicians have failed to cure you, don't give up until you give Dr. Booth a trial. You may think you can't afford it, but where there's a will there's always a way, and the doctor will meet you half way. I know further more if you try him you will always thank me for showing you the way, for he has climbed to the top of the ladder in his profession. RUFUS BRUNSON.

Dr. Booth will be at Hotel Benton, Benton Harbor, Tuesday afternoon May 6 and all day Wednesday.

...These are the Peavy house, on the New-

...Both were erected between 1730 and

...Gilman was the builder, replacing an
...older structure which had been burned.
...The very picturesque Dennett Gilman
...house, a brick structure with gambrel
...roof, which stood about where the Amos
...Tuck house now stands, was torn down
...about 60 years ago. The block near the
...great bridge is of nineteenth century
...origin, having been built by Major Sim-

...came a really fine art in New England
...during the flush times which intervened
...between Wolfe's capture of Quebec in
...1759 and the Revolutionary outbreak of
...1775. It was then that the older of the
...stately mansions of Portsmouth and
...Newburyport were erected. The war
...pretty effectively stopped house build...ing, but by 1800 prosperity had returned,
...and New England shipowners became
...very rich. The house building mania
...broke out again in the form of those
...great, square, three story houses of
...which Exeter has a few and of which
...Salem, Newburyport and Portsmouth

...The magnates of 1800-10 disliked
...gambrel roofs and had no patience with
...nooks and passages. They were plain,
...downright and utilitarian men, and
...they built houses as square as them...selves, with no nonsense about them,
...except perhaps the usually superfluous
...third story. Were these worthies to re-
...turn to earth they might appreciate the
...many modern improvements which
...have been introduced in architecture,
...but they would be pretty sure to repu-
...diate with scorn the adornments for
...which poor Queen Anne has been held
...responsible. — Exeter (N. H.) News

handsomely decorated with flowers and bunting. During the exercises at the tomb every foot of ground within seeing distance was covered with people, both above and below. It was an ocean of faces and the hearts of those present beat in unison with the eulogiums uttered on the great American soldier, the "Old Commander."

THE SARCOPHAGUS INSIDE THE GRANT TOMB decorated with Cuban and American flags, and a band played Cuban patriotic airs. A number of members of the junta accepted invitations to go aboard her to take part in the ceremonies. The little brick tomb in which the body of General Grant remained during the twelve years that the permanent tomb was building was torn down last night. Every brick and bit of stone which had gone to make up the structure was carefully handled and piled in a heap. This heap was fenced about and a guard placed over it, so as to protect the bricks from relic hunters. The remains of the little tomb will not be removed until after the ceremonies at the new tomb are all over, and it is not known yet what will be done with them.

"The Brunswick"

...the last of the line of carriage. The rain will not be long, he said to himself. "In all probability the last guest to arrive will be the last to go. I shall wait in her coupe and rest."

Taking advantage of the absence of the coachman, who had sought shelter in a neighboring doorway, he entered the coupe. It was a bijou little conveyance, upholstered in blue silk and exhaling an aroma of youth and elegance. The marquis settled back in the corner, which was still warm, and availed himself of a wrap that had been left behind, and in that blissful state of comfort he soon fell asleep. How long he slumbered I cannot say, but he suddenly awoke as the coupe drew up in Mme. la Marchale's courtyard.

The door was thrown open, and a young woman of extraordinary beauty approached. When she saw that the coupe was not empty, she suppressed an exclamation, and, hastily divesting herself of her wrap, threw it in upon the astonished occupant.

"Are you mad to throw off your cloak here in the court?" exclaimed the young man who had escorted her to the carriage. "The air is freezing."

"I am suffocating," she replied. And, stepping hastily into the coupe, she closed the door with a bang.

"If you care to drop in at mother's, I will go with you."

"No, no. I have changed my mind. I am tired. Good night. I am going directly home."

The coupe rolled rapidly away. The marquis did not stir. Not a word was spoken until they reached a dark street, when the lady withdrew her mantle.

"Gaston," she exclaimed, "what recklessness! You might have been my ruin!"

As the marquis was about to reply she laid a little hand on his lips.

"No, not a word. I know what foolish excuses you will make. I will not, I dare not, listen. My mind is made up. He is breaking my heart, but what is the difference? First take back this ring. I have no right to keep it."

The marquis was conscious that a ring was being slipped on his finger.

"And now kiss me, sweetheart. You deserve that much for your silence and devotion."

The marquis spent five ecstatic minutes, which, however, neither you nor I need dwell upon.

"And now leave me. In another moment I shall be home. Make haste—make haste."

She let down the right hand window and addressed a few words to the coachman, to divert his attention from the supposed Gaston, who alighted on the other side and disappeared, filled with regrets that he had not been able to follow up to the end this unexpected and delightful adventure.

The coupe drove off straight ahead and was soon lost in the darkness.

A clock was striking 2 as our hero reached home. The marchioness was just alighting at the door. The marquis passed her without seeing her.

"Why, my dear, have you been asleep in the vestibule? You must help me up stairs whether you want to or not. They improvised a cotillon, and I'm simply exhausted."

As he offered her his arm she noticed the ring he had forgotten to remove from his finger.

"What a beautiful ring!" she cried. "Is it for me? I'm sure it was meant for a surprise."

The confusion of the marquis was only equalled by his wife's delight.

"Yes, it is—a surprise. I shall tell you about it in the morning."

For the next three days the young wife was in the most affable of moods in expectation of the diamond. She didn't open the piano once.

While the jeweler was making a facsimile of the ring the marquis endeavored to find his charming unknown.

"I'm a thief," he said to himself. "I'm a thief, and here's the ring to prove it. What will Gaston—the real Gaston—say to her? Poor thing, what a beautiful trinket she lost! Poor fellow, what kisses he lost! The recollection of them makes my head swim."

This little adventure cost my friend just 8,000 francs, and to help him out of his embarrassment I am sending the following notice to the newspapers:

"Lost, Monday, 8th, in a coupe with blue livery, a diamond ring worth 8,000 francs. A liberal reward offered to the owner."—Translated For Argonaut.

Faust's Birthplace Sold.

The house in Roda, Saxe-Altenburg, where Dr. Johann Faust, the famous magician and soothsayer of legendary fame, was born toward the last quarter of the fifteenth century was knocked down to a native junk dealer for $35 the other day and is now being dismantled. The building had almost fallen to pieces from age, and in order that it might not fall down the municipal fathers of the little town ordered its immediate demolition.

This historic structure stands, or stood until quite recently, on a rocky eminence near the Jenuisches Thor (city gate). It is a frame building, very rickety, and has been extensively repaired. There is a legend that it dates back to the year 1450 or 1460, as do many other buildings of Roda. That Faust saw the light in one of its dingy rooms, with floors of trampled earth and tiny windows in leaden frames, is attested by several authentic statements in the town chronicle and also in the "Faust Buch," printed in 1587, from which all later writers on the Faust legend quote and which is their chief authority.—Berlin Letter.

I never was a marquis so difficult to find so irresponsible, as the Countess Amontor de Longueville possesses a heroine—a heroine, as beautiful as you and as unmusical as you. From the rising of the last flicker of the night she was constantly at the piano. I aimed with such untiring zeal it was impossible to keep servants. There were times when I was surprised by Schumann, by Mendelssohn and dead of Saint-Saens, even envied the fortune of his servants, who could be the instrument of torture.

"Will the marquis please settle my bill?"

"Are you going to leave us?"

"No, sir, on account of"—

"No piano? I know; you have had it."

"It were only enough I could it, but it's too much. It is driving me crazy."

"Understand."

"Are not angry, then?"

"Yes, no! But how can I resist a man who would suit the quite deaf."

"No!"

"Neighbors were driven to re-positions and threatening letters in daily, until at last the marquis determined to move to isolated quarter near the barracks of the cornetists and drummers sent to practice scales."

The proposition of building a bicycle path from St. Joseph to Stevensville is being agitated by local wheelmen with considerable enthusiasm. The road extends along the lake shore for nearly the entire distance, making it a delightful run. The path, it is thought, would not cost over $300, as very little improvement is required for a long distance out of St. Joseph. It is six miles to Stevensville. The projectors of the scheme are trying to interest the dealers in bicycles, whom the path would indirectly benefit, and are receiving satisfactory encouragement.

Eight St. Joseph wheelmen were arrested in Stevensville Sunday for riding on the sidewalks. They paid their fines and were discharged. The joke has just reached their St. Joseph friends.

WAR HAS BEEN BADLY MANAGED

In the Charge an Opposition Statesman Makes and the Athens Populace Is Wild —Too Much Palace Dictation the Cause of the Greek Disturbance—People in High Places Denounced—Royal Family Getting Ready to Leave the Country.

London, April 27.—The most serious feature in the Greco-Turkish emergency is the revolutionary feeling displayed at Athens. Ex-Minister Ralli, leader of the principal opposition group in the legislative assembly, threatened that unless the military staff was changed he would issue a proclamation to the people. His statements acted like oil upon fire, and the popular excitement has flared up. Crowds assembled in the streets to discuss them and wanted to march to the palace to read them to King George. Fortunately heavy showers drove the people indoors. M. Delyan-nis, keenly alive to the necessity of immediate action, had an audience with the king and after the interview announced that the staff of the crown prince would be recalled and that ex-Minister Ralli, with three of his nominees—General Smolenski, General Mav-romichali and Colonel Dimopoulou, would be appointed to replace them. M. Ralli, in a published interview, says:

Too Much Palace Dictation.

"The moment Constantin arrived at the seat of war the sole thought of the responsible commanders was not to attack or to withstand the Turks, but to effect a safe retreat if necessary. All orders emanated from the palace. Those issued by any one else were ignored. When dispatches were sent to General Mavromichali he was not where he was supposed to be, having been moved on by superior orders." M. Ralli attended the council at the palace.

The Daily Telegraph's Athens correspondent says: "As the public begins to learn the truth anger against the palace party increases and a feeling of hostility against M. Delyannis is steady-ly growing. Late last night [Monday] crowds were parading menacingly in the vicinity of the palace. It is reported on good authority that arrangements are being made to enable the royal family to leave the country hastily in case of necessity."

Populace Goes with M. Ralli.

Whatever may be the value of M.
Ralli's strictures they seem for the moment echoed by the voice of the multitude. The Greek populace in many respects resembles the French. It is now the fashion to denounce persons in high places, and newspapers which only the other day were eulogizing King George and M. Delyannis for having placed themselves at the head of a national crusade are now hounding on the people against the constituted authorities. Some are openly attacking the crown prince. Others go so far as to announce that he has been recalled, the wish apparently being father to the thought. Journals which formerly made war are now trying to make revolution. What may be the result of the present storm of obloquy it is difficult to foresee."

War Is Practically Over.

The correspondent of The Times at Volo, in a dispatch dated Saturday, says the general impression there is that the campaign is ended; that the centre of interest has been transferred from the seat of war to the diplomatic chan-celleries of Europe.

COSTLY BLAZE AT PEORIA.

Iowa Elevator Burns, Entailing a Loss of Nearly $200,000.

Peoria, Ill., April 27.—A fire which started at 8:30 last night completely destroyed the Iowa elevator, the property of the Iowa Elevator company, entailing a loss of nearly $200,000. The elevator had a capacity of 400,000 bushels and was erected in 1888 at a cost of $110,000. It was insured for $75,000.
About 100,000 bushels of grain, valued at $50,000 and fully insured, was destroyed. In addition about thirty box cars were burned. The origin of the fire is unknown. B. Warren, the secretary and general manager, announces that the elevator will be rebuilt immediately. This is the second disastrous elevator fire this year.

places. The capital is $5,000,000, divided into 50,000 shares of common stock. The incorporators and directors are: Bayard Taylor, Chicago; E. R.
Bryant, Princeton, Ill.; William J.
Marks, Jesse B. Barton and George E.
C. Johnson, Chicago.

Western Passenger Agreement.

Chicago, April 27.—A meeting of the executive committee of the Western Passenger association was held yesterday for the purpose of attending to business incidental to putting into operation the new association agreement. The agreement became binding upon its signers yesterday, and a circular letter was issued to all roads which have not yet become members urging them to sign the agreement without delay.

Started Up Another Shaft.

Ironwood, Mich., April 27.—The Metropolitan Iron and Land company has started up another shaft at the Pabst mine, putting about eighty additional men to work. This is taken as evidence that this company has made a sale of ore, though nothing definite can be learned from the local officials.

held in Illinois.

HOW FARLEY WORKED

Entrance to His Chamber Protected by an Invisible Door.

A GREAT COUNTERFEITER'S DEN

His Home Regarded by Neighbors With Curiosity and Suspicion.

The house where Chicago detectives yesterday located the extensive counterfeiting outfit, is situated scarcely two blocks off of Pipestone street a short distance beyond Empire avenue. It is in the midst of a thickly settled community and yet no one knew that it sheltered one of the most notorious counterfeiters known to the United States Secret Service.

The man who occupied the house which has suddenly awakened so much interest in the community is A. Farley, known by many people of this city. When his occupation was discovered by the location of the counterfeiting plant in the cellar of his residence he had lived in the house three weeks. Just three weeks ago, he, with his wife and two children, one an infant and the other two years old, quietly took possession of the plain and unpretentious dwelling in the south part of the city. They moved there from the vicinity of Eastman Springs where for several years he had occupied a residence owned by Mrs. Green.

Although the habits of the Farley family were such as to cause considerable gossip among the neighbors it was not suspected that Farley was a counterfeiter, and that he had the reputation of having in his day manufactured a hogshead of spurious coins and that the secret service had spent thousands of dollars trying to locate the man; that on several previous occasions the detectives had their prey in sight and were preparing to swoop down upon him when he would vanish, as mysteriously as he did yesterday when the officers surrounded his dwelling and entered it to find his wife and the two babes the only occupants.

Farley and his wife had no disposition to cultivate the acquaintance of their neighbors and during the three weeks' residence in the community where they have lately resided Mrs. Farley is not known to have stepped outside the door. Farley entered and left the house after night had fallen and the only glimpse obtained of him was through the windows of the house.

When they first moved to the place from which the family has now disappeared a neighbor woman called. Farley was in bed and his wife was washing. The caller was taken into the parlor by Mrs. Farley and left there alone. Mrs. Farley paid no further attention to her guest and Farley remained in bed. The caller remained but a few minutes and of course related her treatment to the neighbors and the Farleys were never afterward disturbed by callers.

The house was elaborately furnished. The furniture was rich and costly. Farley dressed well and the indications about the house showed that the family were in good circumstances. There was an air of mystery surrounding the house, created by the peculiarity of the inmates, and when the Chicago detectives yesterday approached the dwelling the neighbors were not greatly surprised.

Capt. Porter, the ablest detective of the secret service, discovered the counterfeiting outfit. He was delighted to find the plant, but he was more interested in capturing Farley and although he felt recompensed for his trouble he was disappointed. The detectives made what they considered a thorough search of the premises without remonstrance from Mrs. Farley. They had found nothing and had started on their return down town when they were intercepted by a woman living near the Farleys who told them that there was a cellar in the Farley house. They then returned and had considerable difficulty in locating the entrance to the cellar. On the south side of the dwelling is a little shanty adjoining the house and although the floor of it was unsuspicious in appearance it was the entrance to the secret chamber where Farley plied his unlawful occupation. A blind door, closing like a trap door, concealed the way to the chamber, and having discovered this the detectives were prepared for the developments following.

In a box, carefully stored away, were the tools which aided Farley to make bogus silver dollars which so near represented the real that the average banker could not make the detection. It was the choicest lot of instruments and machines that ever fell into Capt. Porter's possession. The moulds were perfect and the eyes of the great detective sparkled as he triumphantly held them up to the view of his subordinates.

As soon as the officers with their plunder left the Farley home Mrs. Farley drew the blinds, placed her infant in a baby cab and leading the older one departed from the house. She has not been seen since. The officers believe that Farley went to Chicago Friday night. The neighbors declare that they saw him here Saturday and they believe he was in the city Sunday and yesterday. The officers searched the house high and low and are satisfied that he was at home yesterday when they called. Some of the neighbors claim that groceries were delivered at the Farley house Sunday morning and insist that Mrs. Farley never left the house Farley must have ordered the men in this city besides John Hill, arrested in Chicago Saturday, who are interested with Farley and that a startling chapter of the affair will come to light later. Farley is believed to have agents in various states disposing of his spurious coins, and that he has been operating one of the most extensive counterfeiting plants in existence. Mrs. Farley returned to the house last evening and remained there during the night. The local officers kept a close watch of the dwelling in the hope of detecting Farley but they were disappointed.

NEW ABSTRACT OFFICE

Preparation of a Set of Books Now Going On.

Warren Carroll, of Spokane, Wash., and I. W. Rifford of this city will be the proprietors of a new abstract office for Berrien county to be opened as soon as the books can be gotten in shape which will probably not be before April, 1898—one year.

Mr. Carroll, with an assistant, has been occupied for two or three days in fixing up a set of books and as soon as the books are all opened the work of copying the records in the register's office will proceed without delay.

Employment will be given to as many clerks as can be conveniently handled and the new abstractors expect to be in a position to open an office within a year. The work of copying the records is tedious and involves a great intricacy of detail, while the amount of labor it requires is stupendous.

Mr. Carroll is a brother-in-law of Mr. Rifford and has had considerable experience in the abstract business. The only abstract office in the county at present is conducted by Dix & Wilkin-the Palladium was able yesterday to score a "scoop" on THE NEWS.

Morrill informed the Palladium the new telephone company and the publisher of each paper gave his word that nothing would appear in his column concerning the matter until the company was in shape and Mr. Morrill would release the matter for publication. THE NEWS kept its word but the Palladium, who can't keep a secret, gave out the information that a new telephone company was being formed.
Morrill is indignant over the breaking of his word and hereafter he will know dependence to place on Palladium promises. People often refuse to believe newspaper men secrets for fear they will be betrayed and papers like the Palladium are responsible for such acts of distrust.

"JAKE" SIMON IS HOME.

Something About Future Things for Benton Harbor.
Simon, the man whom Benton Harbor acknowledges to be the prince of house managers, who left this city after the destruction of Yore's last fall and connected himself in good position in Lincoln J. Carroll's theatrical company, has returned to the city. He was accompanied by Paul Sheridan, the soubrette of the Yore company, who will remain in the Simon family for several years. Simon has been all over the east.
He visited Boston, Washington, New York City, and returns with the verdict that Benton Harbor is the lightest spot of them all. "Men are better clothed and better fed in any other cities I have been in. Benton Harbor is my disgruntled business men." Simon will take a rest of several days and then he will set about to rebuild the opera house. He also is considering the instigation of some theatrical attraction for this summer. "I am tired to talk about such things," said Mr. Simon, "but you can rest assured that there'll be some amusement in Benton Harbor this summer." He remained here we would have the opera house by this time," concluded the clever theatrical man.

PIED HIS FORM.

Telephone Man Knocks Bowersox Down.
W. Bowersox, the St. Joseph pugilist, this morning resorted to his favorite time of calling people half his size, etc. He was out on the street when he met W. H. Badour, manager of the telephone company.
Badour is half as large as Bowersox. He, the editor of the Press thought it would be easy to do him up. Mr.
Badour acted the gentleman and patiently listened to the grievances of Bowersox until the latter called him a cheap name made more expressive by the unspeakable adjectives.
Badour hauled off and struck the pugilist's giant and sent him flat on his back on the brick pavement. Bowersox was able to get up and probably would have received more punishment from the little man who was smiling down on the sidewalk but Dr. Shuler, the priceless Shuler, came along and his employer under his wing carried him away to a place of safety.

Bowersox was well out of Ba-dour's hands when he meant pitifully: "Let me, I'll eat him up." But he kept hurrying in the direction from Badour's accused Bowersox's fight for damages in a dog, which had made its appearance in the lower courts of New Orleans. Cases of illi-

ANCIENT STRUCTURES.

Something About the Architecture of Early New England.

Hardly 20 houses in all New England dating back of 1700 are yet in existence, unless in a materially transformed condition. At best the most of them were very rough, box shaped, with a door in one side and a high pitched roof, to make the snow slide off easily, and a chimney of prodigious size. A few years ago the great chimney of the house at Boscawen, where General John A. Dix was born, was torn down and found to contain 150,000 of brick.
The chimney of the Darling house in this town, destroyed about the same time, was about as large. Its removal provided the house with a good sized additional room. Almost all the seventeenth century houses were wooden, though about the oldest structure in New England was built of stone at Guilford, Conn., in or near 1688. Ex-eter's oldest, the Darling house, is about 10 or 11 years younger. Exeter had only three brick houses dating far back into the eighteenth century, and now has only two, if they still can be called brick after being covered with wood and receiving large wooden extensions.
These are the Peavy house, on the Newmarket road, and the old house off Water street built by Nathaniel Ladd.
Both were erected between 1720 and 1730, the Peavy house, of which James Gilman was the builder, replacing an older structure which had been burned.
The very picturesque Dennett Gilman
house, a brick structure with gambrel roof, which stood about where the Amos Tuck house now stands, was torn down about 60 years ago. The block near the great bridge is of nineteenth century
origin, having been built by Major Simeon Folsom about 1813.

Dwelling house architecture first became a really fine art in New England
during the flush times which intervened
between Wolfe's capture of Quebec in 1759 and the Revolutionary outbreak of 1776. It was then that the older of the stately mansions of Portsmouth and Newburyport were erected. The war
pretty effectively stopped house building, but by 1800 prosperity had returned,
and New England shipowners became
very rich. The house building mania broke out again in the form of those
great, square, three story houses of which Exeter has a few and of which Salem, Newburyport and Portsmouth are full.

The magnates of 1800-10 disliked gambrel roofs and had no patience with nooks and passages. They were plain, downright and utilitarian men, and
they built houses as square as themselves, with no nonsense about them, except perhaps the usually superfluous
third story. Were these worthies to return to earth they might appreciate the many modern improvements which
have been introduced in architecture,
but they would be pretty sure to repudiate with scorn the adornments for which poor Queen Anne has been held responsible. — Exeter (N. H.) News Letter.

Great Warships Thunder Out a Requiem as the Services Close and a Multitude of Hands Watching the Ceremony and the Magnificent Pageant That Marks the Day—Tens of Thousands from All Over the Country Present at the Exercises.

New York, April 27.—All day yesterday soldiers of the regular army and National guard marched through the handsomely decorated streets of New York from the railroad station and ferry landings to their quarters. Every train brought notable people to the city, among the arrivals being President Mc-ago. The president and other distinguished guests left Fifth Avenue hotel at 9:20 a. m., and escorted by a squadron of cavalry proceeded to the tomb, where a stand in the open air had been set apart for them. At 10:30 a. m. the head of the parading column moved from Madison Square. At 11 o'clock the exercises at the tomb, prayer, singing by a great choir and speeches, began, and at 1 o'clock p. m., when the bands of the procession were heard, the exercises concluded. At 1:30 p. m. the head of the column reached the tomb, the fleet fired a salute of twenty-one guns, and the review of the parade began. At 2 o'clock the naval parade moved and at 5 o'clock President McKinley will leave the reviewing stand at the tomb and embark on the dispatch boat Dolphin to review the warships.

In the evening the president and the other guests of the city, including the officers of the warships in port, will be entertained at receptions. The massive mausoleum in Riverside Park was completed only a few days ago, and was Kinley, Vice President Hobart, the cabinet officers, members of the diplomatic corps, senators, representatives, and governors of states. Late last evening the last of the foreign warships, the Italian cruiser Dogali, steamed into port. Last night a wind and rain storm cooled and cleared the air. Today is fair and pleasant, and everything ready for the dedication of the massive tomb in Riverside park in which rests the remains of America's great soldier, Ulysses S. Grant. Early yesterday the crowded cars and hotels gave proof that thousands of people had come to town, though the suburbs had not yet begun to feel the Queen's Jubilee. All Outclass the Queen's Jubilee. The people will behold today's pageant.

handsomely decorated with flowers and bunting. During the exercises at the tomb every foot of ground within seeing distance was covered with people, both above and below. It was an ocean of faces and the hearts of those present beat in unison with the eulogiums uttered on the great American soldier, the "Old Commander."

The members of the junta considered it unwise to have their cause officially represented, but influential members of the Cuban colony chartered the Sam Sloan, a passenger steamer, for the day. She was

THE SARCOPHAGUS INSIDE THE GRANT TOMB decorated with Cuban and American flags, and a band played Cuban patriotic airs. A number of members of the junta accepted invitations to go aboard her to take part in the ceremonies. The little brick tomb in which the body of General Grant remained during the twelve years that the permanent tomb was building was torn down last night. Every brick and bit of stone which had gone to make up the structure was carefully handled and piled in a heap. This heap was fenced about and a guard placed over it, so as to protect the bricks from relic hunters. The remains of the little tomb will not be removed until after the ceremonies at the new tomb are all over, and it is not known yet what will be done with them.

To Pay One More Loving Tribute to Old Commander's Name and Honor.

Great Warships Thunder Out a Requiem for the Services Close and a Multitude of Hands Watching the Ceremony and the Magnificent Pageant That Marks the Day—Tens of Thousands from All Over the Country Present at the Exercises.

New York, April 27.—All day yesterday soldiers of the regular army and National guard marched through the handsomely decorated streets of New York from the railroad station and ferry landings to their quarters. Every train brought notable people to the city, among the arrivals being President McKinley, Vice President Hobart, the cabinet officers, members of the diplomatic corps, senators, representatives, and governors of states. Late last evening the last of the foreign warships, the Italian cruiser Dogail, steamed into port. Last night a wind and rain storm cooled and cleared the air. Today is fair and pleasant, and everything ready for the dedication of the massive tomb in Riverside park in which rests the remains of America's great soldier, Ulysses S. Grant. Early yesterday the crowded cars and hotels gave proof that a multitude of people had come to town, though the suburbs had not yet begun their hundreds of thousands. The Outrage of the Queen's Jubilee. People will behold today's pageant.

GRANT TOMB, NEW YORK, AS IT WILL LOOK WHEN COMPLETED. (The statues on the front of the tomb are not yet in position.)

McKinley, Vice President Hobart, the cabinet officers, members of the diplomatic corps, senators, representatives, and governors of states. Late last evening the last of the foreign warships, the Italian cruiser Dogail, steamed into port. Last night a wind and rain storm cooled and cleared the air. Today is fair and pleasant, and everything ready for the dedication of the massive tomb in Riverside park in which rests the remains of America's great soldier, Ulysses S. Grant. Early yesterday the crowded cars and hotels gave proof that a multitude of people had come to town, though the suburbs had not yet begun their hundreds of thousands. The Outrage of the Queen's Jubilee. People will behold today's pageant.

MRS. U. S. GRANT.

More than will see the queen's show in on next month, for the line of march stretches for several miles, and the of the route is alongside of the and vacant lots, upon which have built great stands with cushioned canopies and restaurants, for spectators are expected to occupy places for several hours, from the President McKinley's carriage in the morning until the last of 50,000 men goes by in the afternoon. The making up of the parade the and marshal, General Grenville M. Dodge, excluded many civic bodies asked for places, and gave room the regular militia of the several organizations. The white squadron in the North river opposite the tomb, the foreign war vessels are anchored by.

EXERCISES AT THE DEDICATION.

at 9:20 a. m. and will not close until dark. The exercises of the day will be carried out precisely as arranged weeks ago.

ago. The president and other distinguished guests left Fifth Avenue hotel at 9:20 a. m., and escorted by a squadron of cavalry proceeded to the tomb, where a stand in the open air had been set apart for them. At 10:30 a. m. the head of the parading column moved from Madison Square. At 11 o'clock the exercises at the tomb, prayer, singing by a great choir and speeches, began, and at 1 o'clock p. m., when the bands of the procession were heard, the exercises concluded. At 1:30 p. m. the head of the column reached the tomb, the fleet fired a salute of twenty-one guns, and the review of the parade began. At 2 o'clock the naval parade moved and at 5 o'clock President McKinley will leave the reviewing stand at the tomb and embark on the dispatch boat Dolphin to review the warships. In the evening the president and the other guests of the city, including the officers of the warships in port, will be entertained at receptions. The massive mausoleum in Riverside Park was completed only a few days ago, and was handsomely decorated with flowers and bunting. During the exercises at the tomb every foot of ground within seeing distance was covered with people, both above and below. It was an ocean of faces and the hearts of those present beat in unison with the eulogiums uttered on the great American soldier, the "Old Commander."

While the Cubans determined not to have any official vessel in the marine display the cause of Cuba Libre was not without its representative. The members of the junta considered it unwise to have their cause officially represented, but influential members of the Cuban colony chartered the Sam Sloan, a passenger steamer, for the day. She was

ST. JOSEPH.

John H. Garlanger, of Royalton, and Miss Nellie McDaniel, of Benton Harbor, will be married at 8 o'clock tomorrow morning in the Catholic church, this city.

The Modern Woodmen gave a very enjoyable literary entertainment in their hall last evening. F. O. Stowell delivered an address and a program of choice musical and literary numbers was rendered.

The proposition of building a bicycle path from St. Joseph to Stevensville is being agitated by local wheelmen with considerable enthusiasm. The road extends along the lake shore for nearly the entire distance, making it a delightful run. The path, it is thought, would not cost over $300, as very little improvement is required for a long distance out of St. Joseph. It is six miles to Stevensville. The projectors of the scheme are trying to interest the dealers in bicycles, whom the path would indirectly benefit, and are receiving satisfactory encouragement.

Eight St. Joseph wheelmen were arrested in Stevensville Sunday for riding on the sidewalks. They paid their fines and were discharged. The joke has just reached their St. Joseph friends.

Mrs. Howard, mother of Melvin Howard, sentenced to a long term in Jackson from this county 10 years ago, is circulating a petition to have her son pardoned. He was sent up for stabbing a man.

St. Catherine's guild of the Episcopal mission has provided a band concert for the delectation of their friends tomorrow night at the Academy of Music. Frazell's band will play. There will be a hop after the concert.

REVOLUTION NEXT.

Is What Is Threatening the Hellenic Monarchy.

Is the Charge an Opposition Statesman Makes and the Athens Populace Is Wild—Too Much Palace Dictation the Cause of the Greek Defeat—People in High Places Denounced—Royal Family Getting Ready to Leave the Country.

London, April 27.—The most serious feature in the Greco-Turkish emergency is the revolutionary feeling displayed at Athens. Ex-Minister Ralli, leader of the principal opposition group in the legislative assembly, threatened that unless the military was changed he would issue a proclamation to the people. His statements acted like oil upon fire, and the popular excitement has flared up. Crowds assembled in the streets to discuss them and wanted to march to the palace to read them to King George. Fortunately heavy showers drove the people indoors. M. Delyannis, keenly alive to the necessity of immediate action, had an audience with the king and after the interview announced that the staff of the crown prince would be recalled and that ex-Minister Ralli, with three of his nominees—General Smolenski, General Mavromichali and Colonel Dimopoulos, would be appointed to replace them. M. Ralli, in a published interview, says:

Too Much Palace Dictation.

"The moment Constantin arrived at the seat of war the sole thought of the responsible commanders was not to attack or to withstand the Turks, but to effect a safe retreat if necessary. All orders emanated from the palace. Those issued by any one else were ignored. When dispatches were sent to General Mavromichali he was not where he was supposed to be, having been moved on by superior orders." M. Ralli attended the council at the palace.

The Daily Telegraph's Athens correspondent says: "As the public begins to learn the truth anger against the palace party increases and a feeling of hostility against M. Delyannis is steadily growing. Late last night [Monday] crowds were parading menacingly in the vicinity of the palace. It is reported on good authority that arrangements are being made to enable the royal family to leave the country hastily in case of necessity."

Populace Goes with M. Ralli.

Whatever may be the value of M. Ralli's strictures they seem for the moment echoed by the voice of the multitude. The Greek populace in many respects resembles the French. It is now the fashion to denounce persons in high places, and newspapers which only the other day were eulogizing King George and M. Delyannis for having placed themselves at the head of a national crusade are now hounding on the people against the constituted authorities. Some are openly attacking the crown prince. Others go so far as to announce that he has been recalled, the wish apparently being father to the thought. Journals which formerly made war are now trying to make revolution. What may be the result of the present storm of obloquy it is difficult to foresee.

War Is Practically Over.

The correspondent of The Times at Volo, in a dispatch dated Saturday, says the general impression there is that the campaign is ended; that the centre of interest has been transferred from the seat of war to the diplomatic chancelleries of Europe.

COSTLY BLAZE AT PEORIA.

Iowa Elevator Burns, Entailing a Loss of Nearly $200,000.

Peoria, Ill., April 27.—A fire which started at 3:30 last night completely destroyed the Iowa elevator, the property of the Iowa Elevator company, entailing a loss of nearly $200,000. The elevator had a capacity of 400,000 bushels and was erected in 1888 at a cost of $110,000. It was insured for $75,000. About 100,000 bushels of grain, valued at $50,000 and fully insured, was destroyed. In addition about thirty box cars were burned. The origin of the fire is unknown. B. Warren, the secretary and general manager, announces that the elevator will be rebuilt immediately. This is the second disastrous elevator fire this year.

New Railway for Wisconsin.

Madison, April 27.—Articles of association were filed yesterday with the secretary of state by the Wisconsin, Inland Lakes and Chicago Railroad company, which is to construct a railroad 500 miles in length from Chicago to Milwaukee, Wis., with branches to Milwaukee, Madison, Janesville and other places. The capital is $5,000,000, divided into 50,000 shares of common stock. The incorporators and directors are: Bayard Taylor, Chicago; E. R. Bryant, Princeton, Ill.; William J. Marks, Jesse B. Barton and George W. C. Johnson, Chicago.

Western Passenger Agreement.

Chicago, April 27.—A meeting of the executive committee of the Western Passenger association was held yesterday for the purpose of attending to business incidental to putting into operation the new association agreement. The agreement became binding upon its signers yesterday, and a circular letter was issued to all roads which have not yet become members urging them to sign the agreement without delay.

Started Up Another Shaft.

Ironwood, Mich., April 27.—The Metropolitan Iron and Land company has started up another shaft at the Pabst mine, putting about eighty additional men to work. This is taken as evidence that this company has made a sale of ore, though nothing definite can be learned from the local officials.

Illinois Grand Army Encampment.

Galesburg, Ill., April 27.—Arrangements for the Grand Army state encampment, which opens here on Wednesday, May 5, are completed, and the prospects are that the attendance will be the largest of any encampment yet held in Illinois.

Not in It with Peter Maher.

Philadelphia, April 27.—Peter Maher again demonstrated his ability to whip Steve O'Donnell, by practically knocking him out in the sixth round of their bout at the Arena of the Quaker City Athletic club last night.
